“Since our day one interaction, Scott and the rest of the Cresa team have been eager to get up to speed, learn about KLD and understand our decision making process to meld the minds. It’s great to have a team willing to learn as if they were part of our organization, and it feels like we’re talking to an internal colleague and not a vendor. It’s also worth pointing out how flexible and knowledgeable Scott and the team have been for us - from rapid expansion and contraction due to the pandemic, the Cresa team has always been willing to help us move as nimbly as possible through uncharted territory. As a global company, that is certainly not easy to do, but partnering with Cresa made it easier for us to navigate. Appreciate all Cresa did for us!”
