

Sharon Morrison, SIOR

Managing Principal, Texas Dallas

Professional Experience

Sharon Morrison is Managing Principal over Texas, directly involved with Market Leadership and development of Cresa's vision, growth and strategy. She also sits on Cresa's Board of Directors. With over three-decades of experience, Sharon has developed strategic real estate solutions for global brands on a local, national and international basis with expertise in complex lease & sales negotiations, site selection, build-to-suits and portfolio management.

Sharon began her career in commercial real estate at The Staubach Company, where she helped launch an industrial focus and build it into a national practice. She repeated the effort at Transwestern on both the office and industrial side. In 2013, Sharon founded leading Texas-based tenant representation firm, esrp, where she served as CEO. esrp merged with Cresa and continues to fulfill a mutual focus of consultative and conflict-free tenant advisory services. Sharon's industry experience, passion, creativity and commitment to culture drive her to empower the Cresa teams and everyone she encounters professionally and personally.
