

Jane Roundell

Managing Principal New York

Professional Experience

Jane Roundell has been with Cresa New York since 2001. She has represented many major corporate and non-profit clients in complex transactions, including portfolio services and strategic planning over the last ten years for the American Heart Association. With over 28 years of experience, Jane is known for her intense attention to detail and her in-depth knowledge of all facets of commercial real estate. Jane has twice been featured in the New York Real Estate Journal's "Spotlight: Women in Real Estate."

Prior to joining Cresa, Jane was an Owner's Representative at Western Management Corporation/Western Heritable Investment, where her responsibilities included marketing, negotiation of all leasing transactions, legal negotiations, due diligence, acquisition review and portfolio management. Prior to that, she worked for Tishman Real Estate Services, where she was involved primarily in telco work.
