

Rick Door

Managing Principal
Salt Lake City

Professional Experience

Rick Door is the Managing Principal of Cresa's Salt Lake City office and a member of Cresa's Board of Directors. He has spent more than 25 years providing strategic direction, cost savings and holistic real estate solutions to corporate clients. Rick represents clients across a variety of industries for both one-off requirements and portfolio account work. He has represented more than 30 million square feet nationally and fluidly optimizes Cresa's cross-market network to service portfolio clients. His knowledge of the mid-West region has allowed him to manage more than $60 million in real estate transactions.

Rick's understanding of market trends, the landlord mindset, lease negotiations and how important an organization's culture is to its overall success creates a depth of long-standing trust and partnership with his clients. His leadership in mentoring the next generation both professionally and his active lifestyle allows him to relate to diverse teams and promote collaboration throughout projects.
